

Make Kindness Your Superpower!

Each day when you wake and off you race,
Before making your bed or washing your face,
Promise to make your world a kinder place.

It doesn't take magic or super speed,
And you won't need a cape to help neighbors in need
Or to coach someone younger who's learning to read.

It costs you nothing and it's easy to do--
So share your smile when a person is blue,
And make a friend who's different from you.

When their lives seem hard or unfair,
Let your classmates know you care--
Be a listening ear or a breath of fresh air.

At home, being kind means even more,
So help your parents with a chore
When they ask you, or before.

Being kind's the right choice--you know it's true.
And once you get started, it's easy to do--
You only treat others as you want them to treat you.

I'm making kindness my superpower by taking the kindness pledge in honor of Bullying Awareness and Prevention Month!
