

How to be a GOOD ROLE MODEL FOR STUDENTS

Anyone can serve as a positive influence and role model for students. However, it can be helpful to acknowledge and take ownership of your potential role as a role model for students. If you wish to embody more intentional and positive role model behavior, here are some great steps you can take:

Encourage students explore and pursue their passions

Listen to their opinions and stories without judging

Provide insight when asked or needed

Help them explore college and career options

Teach and model helpful social skills, such as coping skills, self-care, gratitude, and more

Remind them that they are not alone

Keep judgement and negativity out of conversations

Encourage vulnerability and healthy emotional practices
